Jim's Jottings

Let love be genuine . . . "if your enemies are hungry, feed them; if they are thirsty, give them something to drink, for by doing this you will heap burning coals on their heads." Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good."

—The Apostle Paul, Romans 12:9a, 20-21 NRSVUE

"I have a very strong conviction that Christians should be known for being odd," says J. Daniel Kirk in his commentary Romans for Normal People. While I have no doubt that Christians are looked at in our time as being odd, I am also sure that Kirk has something else in mind.

The Apostle Paul, in this Sunday's Epistle Reading (Romans 12:9-21) counsels us to live oddly in this world. Among the odd things he urges us to do are:

- ⇒ Outdo each other in showing honor;
- ⇒ Rejoice in hope, be patient in affliction;
- ⇒ Pursue hospitality to strangers;
- ⇒ Bless those who persecute us;
- ⇒ Associate with the lowly;
- ⇒ Do not return evil for evil;
- ⇒ As far as it depends on you, live peaceably with everyone;
- ⇒ Never avenge yourself.

And then we come to the end of the passage, where Paul seems to have saved the biggest challenge of all: ". . . If your enemies are hungry feed them . . . "

Wait! What?!? It's one thing to pray for my enemies; and while it may be a stretch to bless them, I can do both of those things with little cost or threat to myself or well-being. But to feed my enemy?!? To keep my enemy alive?!? If that's what love requires, then love is asking too much!

Ah! But Paul seems to be giving me a way out of my dilemma. He says, when I do this for my enemy, I am heaping burning coals on their heads. Now that's more like it!

But wait. That is not how the early church understood Paul's words. Origin, one of the early teachers in the church saw the coals, not as a source of judgement, but a means of warmth; they were there to give warmth - "Let the enemy be softened by the fire of charity," he wrote.

We are called to an odd way of living. May we be odd in the way Paul envisions.

PRAYER FOR THE MUSLIM WORLD

Pray for Water filter distributions that go on regularly. Pray for the home visits that follow.

Pray for the workers at the factory where clay pot water filters are produced. Pray for opportunities to share the Good News.

Pray for leadership training teams as they develop effective leaders for their communities.

Praise God for partners and coworkers. Pray they will remain strong in their faith and faithful to the task.

Ask God to guide the teams in establishing new faith communities.

Pray that those who have heard the Word will seek to have a relationship with Christ.
